

Energy has always intrigued me but recently even more and I began to do some in depth research and what I have found of energy production in Costa Rica is very interesting! Part of what caught my attention is a decree signed by Laura Chinchilla (The Chinchilla administration has asked electrical distributors to come up with pilot plans so that customers can generate their own power and market the excess. The request from the central administration was in the form of two decrees issued March 15, 2011 and published just before Easter in the La Gazeta official newspaper. The

~~Source: https://www.flickr.com/photos/1234567890/1234567890/~~

for 30% of annual production.