

The first week this past May the local college of Santiago received the vice minister of education and our congresswoman with cheers as they came out to give us a presentation of the new college.

Santiago's new college is now scheduled to begin construction this coming December 2012.

